Our construction project is going quite well at this point in the process. The many different school start dates are a direct result of the stages of the project. I know that many of you have children in different grades so please read below for each grade level start date. Further information may also be found on our district website.

Our teaching staff has already been attending meetings this week in preparation for another successful school year. The Ohio Department of Education has recently released the 2012 Local Report Card. Our district had a slight drop in number of indicators achieved but still had positive results in our value-added scores. We were successful in moving the students at least one grade level in reading and math in grades 3-10.

To our students, I want to leave you with a thought to ponder as you begin the journey of another year in school: "What great thing would you attempt if you knew you could not fail?" Good luck to each and every student (and parent/guardian) in the Circleville City Schools in anticipation of another successful school year.

As always, if you have any questions on any district issues, please give me a call.

Go Tigers!
