English Language Arts Vertical Alignment

Language Strand

Introduction

Ohio’s English Language Arts Learning Standards in the vertical format show the college and career readiness anchor standards (CCRA), organized by strand, with their corresponding grade-level standards. We call these Vertical Alignments. These vertical alignments allow you to see what the students should be learning in their grade level, but also in the grade level or levels above and below the student’s grade level.

Vertical alignments can be helpful for instructional planning. For example, CCRA 1 in the Language strand, commonly called Grammar, asks the student to show that they know and can use grammar properly when writing or speaking. This is the one of the expectations for students graduating from high school to show college or career readiness. To build to this level, the standards ask a student in grades K-4 to identify and form various parts of speech, such as nouns, verbs, and pronouns. In Grade 5 and beyond, students should be able to show that they can use these parts of speech to form proper sentences. If a student struggles to do this, a teacher may go back in the vertical alignment to see if the student has mastered the standards for the parts of speech in grades K-4, identifying gaps in the student’s learning. The teacher can then differentiate, or tailor the lessons and supports to the students’ needs, to help students reach the skills in the standard at their grade level.

The vertical alignments are also helpful for parents who want to follow the skills and concepts that their children should be mastering from one grade level to the next.

The following standards for grades 6-12 offer a focus for instruction each year to help ensure that students gain adequate mastery of a range of skills and applications. Students advancing through the grades are expected to meet each year's grade-specific standards and retain or further develop skills and understandings mastered in preceding grades. Beginning in grade 3, skills and understandings that are particularly likely to require continued attention in higher grades as they are applied to increasingly sophisticated writing and speaking are marked with an asterisk (*).
